FIRE KILLS 6 NEAR FINDLAY; LAMP BLAMED

Oil Light Believed Upset by Invalid; Five Victims in One Family

HOME DESTROYED

Mother Escapes Death While Visiting Friends in Findlay

FINDLAY, Jan. 12.—An oil lamp, believed to have been upset by Laura Long, an invalid, was today blamed for the horrible death of six persons, five of them members of one family, who were burned to death when fire destroyed the home of Wilson Long, 12 miles east of here early yesterday.

All of the victims excepting the invalid were asleep when the flames ravaged the home.

Wilson Long, 46, Nancy Long, 18, his mother, Laura Long, 52, his sister, Helen Long, 17, a daughter, Leroy Long, 4, a son, Leona Ewing, 11, a guest.

Starts on First Floor

An investigation disclosed that the fire started on the first floor of the dwelling. It is believed that Laura's sister was unable to give an alarm due to her helpless condition. Indications are that burning oil flowed over the downstairs floor causing the flames to spread swiftly.

The two women and the daughter, Helen, with her friend, Leona Ewing, were sleeping on the first floor, while Long and his little son were upstairs. Mrs. Long was visiting friends in this city and thus escaped the tragedy which caused the death of all her family except two daughters, Mary and Martha, who are nurses in a local hospital.

Four Suffocated

The four persons sleeping on the ground floor were apparently suffocated by the smoke before they had an opportunity to escape or to warn the father and infant son upstairs. The body of Long and the baby were found at the foot of the stairs which led to the belief that Long smothered and started down the steps.

Neighbors first discovered the fire but the wooden structure was entirely enveloped by the flames and beyond control.

County Again Faces Flood Menace CRASH IN FOG KILLS MAN

LATEST RAIN RAISES RIVERS

Dense Fog Adds to Danger of Travel; Several Autos Ditched

MISSISSIPPI RISING

Disrupts Traffic and Drives Hundreds of Families from Their Homes

Warm rains which cleared Marion and adjoining counties of the damaging coat of ice which held this section in its grip Friday, have threatened a return of flood conditions to the same locality, reports today indicated.

After receding from dangerous heights Saturday, the Scioto river was again swollen yesterday and last night by rainfall of 1.25 inches, which fell in this section. That river is now rising at the rate of half an inch an hour at Prospect, and this morning at 9 o'clock had gained three inches in depth. A 27-inch drop in its level before the rain last night had not cleared the Scioto river from the Prospect pk. above that village.

Some Roads Closed

All roads along rivers, especially in the southern part of the county, are virtually inundated, and almost impassable, according to County Surveyor Cecil Levens, who was investigating the situation of the county today.

All travel on these roads has been stopped, and to attempt to pass over them is extremely dangerous, he said today. Agassia rd. west from Marion, is under water in places, but is passable. However, it will be closed to traffic tonight, according to Levens at noon today. The Green Camp rd. will also be closed tonight.

At Latimer, the Big Scioto is stretching toward higher levels than were recorded in the flood last week. The river is now rising there, and may reach damaging levels tonight. The amount of damage done by the high waters has not been estimated.

Interruption of service of the C. & M. Electric Co., which was resumed Saturday afternoon when the water receded from the tracks was again threatened today by the rising current.

Rushdredged by Fog

Last night fog, the county enveloped in a dense fog, which was responsible for several minor auto accidents.

Two prison terms and one suspended sentence were given three persons indicted by the last grand jury when they appeared in common pleas court for sentence this morning.

He pleaded guilty to the grand larceny charge and a charge of removing mortgaged property from the county when arraigned before Judge George B. Scifield last Saturday afternoon.

Darrell Lee, indicted for carrying concealed weapons, was given an indeterminate term in the Mansfield reformatory. He also pleaded guilty to the charge.

When Lee was arraigned, a flashlight and an improvised "gun" in his pocket, city police claim.

Gels Suspended Sentence

When Shepard was set for Thursday,

he was arraigned before Judge Scifield and will be the second Thursday morning to defend himself against an alleged crime. A year ago he was convicted of burglary and has appeared today to defend himself against an alleged crime. ## Stage Set for Another Battle Over Dry Funds

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—The stage was set today for another congressional battle over prohibition enforcement funds when the house appropriations committee recommended an allotment of $15,000,000, the same as last year, in submitting the annual treasury-postoffice supply bill to the house.

Accepting the budget, however,

the house committee rejected the demand for "seniority" for vastly increased funds on the ground that it would put the federal government into a police work which belongs to states and localities.

The committee retained the increase of $15,000,000 for the fiscal year 1931, but recommended a total of $17,171,000 for the fiscal year 1932, a $2,000,000 increase.

Harvey E. Hays, who announced

that he will demand $20,000,000 additional this year.

Accepting the budget, however, the house committee rejected the demand for "seniority" for vastly increased funds on the ground that it would put the federal government into a police work which belongs to states and localities.

PASS AMERICA! CRY AS SOVIET BUILDS

U. S., Its Efficiency and Machinery Catch Imagination of Russians; Goal Is Called Audacious

Editor's Note: This is the first of the series of six articles on the "new revolution" in Russia, which Vladimir Hunt, noted newspaperman, war correspondent, magazine writer, staff writer and editorial representative in Europe for Cosmopolitan Magazine has written especially for The Marion Star and other papers. See today's "Streets of Marion" for a story about Vladimir Hunt.)

BY FRANK HUNT

(Copyright, 1930, by L. N. S.)
LONDON, Jan. 12.—"Learn from your enemies."

That is the story of Russia. "Today Soviet Russia is being Americanized, so that she can win the world from America. She is learning from her enemies."

It is the greatest story in the world. It is the greatest story of the century—greater than the World war—the passing of the thousands of Europe—greater than the death of ten million men and the destruction of five hundred billion dollars worth of property.

One who writes of the Soviet union today is writing history. It is future history—the future that must be weighed and told in terms of the past and the present.

Catches Imagination

America has caught the imagination of Russia, the efficiency of our machine age, our mechanization and industrialization has captured the mind of every living man in this great sprawling land that stretches over six-sixths of the face of the globe. The deepest present in the most distant "dark village" in Russia has heard the hum of the American machine, brought to his ears by the magic waves of ideas that know no international boundaries or respect to international barriers.

It is America's day in Russia. "Stavka na Ameriku" is the newest slogan—"Bet on America!"

Then there is "Catch up with and pass America!"

And then the third: "Kam Rago?"—"Which one?—Who will win?"

England, France and Germany are all forgotten in this tidal wave of American ideas that is sweeping over Soviet land. A boy dreams up to a white shirt; "Dressed like an American" he is described in half envy.

Today the Soviet union is buying between five and ten million dollars worth of American engineering brains—buying them by the ounce and importing them just as they import $115,000,000 worth of tractors, trucks and motor cars and electric equipment and machines of a thousand and one kind.

They're "Only Started"

The head of a great government department said to me in Moscow: "America can do a billion dollars' worth of work in six months."

32 DEAD AS GALES HIT GREAT BRITAIN

Wind Reaches Velocity of 120 Miles an Hour; 20 Seamen Lost

LONDON, Jan. 12.—A death toll of 32 has already been taken by one of the worst gales in the history of the British Isles. It was estimated today.

The gale, which at times reached a velocity of 120 miles an hour, caused widespread damage both on land and sea and still is raging at such a pitch as to keep continually all shipping lanes blockaded.

Twenty lives were lost when the British liner, the S. S. George, was in the teeth of the gale about 122 miles northwest of Llandudno.

Twelve persons were killed in numerous accidents occurring in southern England, parts of Ireland as a direct result of the gale.

At least 20 persons suffered serious injuries and it is feared the toll of dead and injured may go much higher.

Property damage was enormous. A number of shipping craft reported themselves in dangerous predicaments. Hundreds of vessels were forced to seek the shelter of nearby harbors.

Air service across the English Channel was at a standstill. Ship services on the channel were virtually at a standstill.

At least 20 persons suffered serious injuries and it is feared the toll of dead and injured may go much higher.

LAWRENCE MISSING DAY BEFORE TRIAL

Bond Forfeiture Likely If Defendant in Liquor Case Fails To Appear

That county officials could locate a defendant in a liquor case, who failed to appear for trial today, is a possibility, according to a statement made today by the county clerk.

Alfred Lawrence, who was arrested on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon, failed to appear for trial today. His bond was set at $10,000.

NO OHIO TAGS

West Virginia Fight Material for Clearer Plates

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Jan. 12.—Declaring that the state is losing thousands of dollars, West Virginia authorities today began a campaign to stop the practice of West Virginia motorists using Ohio automobile licenses in Ohio and ending the high price in this state.

Hundreds of motorists of the state are believed guilty of buying Ohio licenses when they are $7 to $25 cheaper than the West Virginia tags.

REICHSBANK DROP RATE

BERTIN, Jan. 12.—The Reichsbank today lowered its discount rate from 10 to 8 per cent. News of the decrease came as a surprise, as it had been expected to remain at 10 per cent.

The action is believed to have been taken in an effort to stimulate German trade and commerce.

LOCAL SPORT CARD FULL THIS WEEK

WEDNESDAY NIGHT IS OPEN; WRESTLING TO BE FEATURE TONIGHT

Shovel Team League, Harding and Y-Indus Fives Will Play

BY KARL R. McELROY
Sports Editor, The Star

MARION'S sport wheel will start turning tonight and with the exception of one off night will grind out a full schedule of athletic events for local fans. Wrestling and basketball hold the big spots on the sport scene.

Wrestling will open the week's card tonight at the Marion Shovel Team League with three bouts carded on the main program. The first bout starts at 8:15 o'clock. The show will be dedicated to women of Marion with all members of the team being admitted free to the general admission sections.

Charley Grip, the champion of the ring who is better known as "Gerrilla," will do the main event wrestling with George Shaw. The boys are attempting to settle differences following a rough 30-minute draw battle of several weeks ago. They will have plenty of time to do it, the feature attraction not having a time limit and two falls will be necessary for a victory.

Two advisor artists will tangle legs in the semi-final match of 30 minutes. Alan Eastman, 222-pound Kan- sassin, will meet Jack Rogers, 220-pound Michigan lumberman. In addition there will be a 10-minute preliminary.

The professional basketball team will get under way at the Shovel 230 Tuesday night with the Shovel A. A. team playing the Bliss college five. The contest will mark efforts to bring back the pro game to its old place in Marion sports circles.

It is the first time that the Bliss college five has appeared in Marion. The Bliss Collegians, a team that played here last night, is a professional outfit.

Two Marion boys play a prominent role on the team. Wes Griffin is coach of the Bliss five while Bud Lewis, former Harding high star, is a forward.

Games in the Senior and Intermediate Sunday School leagues will be played at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday night. The following are the complete schedules:

Senior—Epworth vs. Waldo; Calvary vs. Christians No. 1; United Brethren vs. Christian No. 2; Trinity vs. Presbyterian.

Intermediate—Christian vs. Presbyterian; Epworth No. 1 vs. Epworth No. 2; Calvary vs. Trinity.

Wednesday night will be the only open date in the schedule.

After giving the fans a one-day respite another swirl of basketball will conclude the week's program.

Thursday night, starting at 8 o'clock, the Steam Shovel Inter-departmental league will play the following schedule contests:

Engineers vs. Production, Machinists vs. Spades, Structural vs. Accountants, Foundry vs. Dryer.

Playing its second North Central Ohio league contest in a row, Harding high school basketball will meet Bucyrus in The Star auditorium.

Bucyrus ranks with Mansfield as the two strongest contenders for the N. C. O. bunting. It looks as though Coach Campbell's five is in for another tough battle that may do the record books no good in a big way.

Two games are on the basketball

Y-Indus Cagers Chalk Up Victory Over Bowling Green Quint

FEBRUARY BATTLE IS BIG JOKE OF GARDEN

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Perhaps it would be just as well to explain today the little comedy of fallacies whereby Phil Scott, who was just a "tramp" as they say, in early 1929, became the tramp of heavyweight boxing in 1929—meaning, having done nothing very constantly. An explanation, indeed, is almost demanded. For the thing, a comedy seldom gets content, particularly with an Englishman involved, until such time as a complete exposure is made. For a matter, it is only proper that William Muldoon, who has essayed to accept responsibility for Phil, should be accorded the courtesy of a hearing.

Therefore, he it knows by all interested that William Muldoon is selecting the survivors of the heavyweight tournament by the map of the world before him. You use this system when you wish to find out where you are and why not. It is possible that William is still on the wrong page.

"In Sharkey," says he, "we have the heavyweight champion of America, one of the great boxing countries. In Scott, we have the champion of England, another great fighting country. In Schumaker, we have the champion of Germany, and in Campbell, the champion of South America. Obviously, we can have no world's champion until the champion of England is defeated."

But rarely Mr. Muldoon hasn't forgotten the champion of China? To be sure, nobody knows who the champion of China is but that's unimportant. So is the fact that he can't fight. Let us get him over here and leave that he can't. He might be able to lick the champion of England, at that.

As a matter of fact, the men who

WIN EIGHTH CONTEST IN 10 STARTS FROM COLLEGE RESERVES

Spurt Causes Locals Trouble in Last Period of Game; Score, 24 to 21

A NOTHER victory was added to their long string of cage wins Saturday night when the Marion Y-Indus Handlers defeated Bowling Green college reserves, 24 to 21, at Bowling Green.

It was the eighth win for the locals (this season). The Y cagers, who are not much at standard distances. Some day, for instance, I hope to establish the record at 6 1/2 yards. After that, I won't care who is the heavyweight champion of England.

The heavyweight champion of America, of course, is another matter. So is the heavyweight champion of Germany—not because of the title, but because of the fighter. If he came from Council Bluffs, it would be the same. However, I'm afraid that his only chance with Mr. Muldoon would be to leave the country under an assumed name and come back as the champion of Asia Minor.

It doesn't seem to have occurred to Mr. Muldoon, for example, that it is possible the best two heavyweight fighters in the world may be Americans. This was so with Corbett and Sullivan, Jeffries and Johnson, Johnson and Willard, Willard and Dempsey and Dempsey and Tammie. They didn't consult the champion of Abyssinia about it. They assumed that he didn't matter greatly and I think Mr. Muldoon will be eminently justified in doing likewise.

10-YEAR ALCOHOLIC DEATH TOLL 34,000

4,700 Persons Succumb to Some Form of Fatal Drinking in 1929

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Alcohol was responsible for over 34,000 deaths in United States from 1919 to 1929, according to official census figures made available today, while an unofficial estimate revealed 4,700 deaths from that cause last year.

Reports made to the census bureau for the years 1919-1929 showed 22,150 fatalities attributable to alcoholism, chronic or acute and from poison liquor. The three classes of deaths were not divided but all are expressed the belief that the poisoning deaths were in the minority and that overwhelming last liquor was responsible for most of the deaths.

While the number of alcoholic deaths increased, the records actually showed a slight decrease in the death rate. Considering the growth in the population since prohibition days there has been a slight decrease in alcoholic deaths. In 1917, the last normal year before prohibition, there were 2,500 deaths reported with a rate of 5.2 per 100,000 population.

In 1929 there were 1,927 deaths reported due to alcoholism with a rate of 4 per 100,000 population. The country grows its nearly 1,500,000 annually. The 1929 figures will not be available for some time, but officials and undoubtedly there was an increase over the preceding year, although it was thought doubtful whether the death rate would show an increase.

ENDED COLD CAUSED BY RIDE IN NIGHT AIR

Relief Began Quickly When Doctor Advised Home Use of Pleasant Method

An entirely new method of ending colds is now proving itself quick and most dependable in hundreds of Marion homes.

Miss Eva China, for example, caught a severe cold when she left her car at home and the air became damp and chilly later in the evening. As a result, her breathing passages became badly congested, her throat was inflamed by constant coughing and her voice was so hoarse it was embarrassing to try to talk.

Acting on the advice of her doctor, then, she started taking double strength doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Relief began quickly and that night her nose passages were less congested, the "feverish" feeling was gone and she was able to sleep without coughing but once or twice during the night. Next day she was able to return to work and in another day or so, the doctor reports, an examination showed that all trace of the cold was gone.

Note: See other cases being reported daily in this paper—all credited by the attending physician.

Ayer's Pectoral was hospital certified as the best of cough, colds, croup and chest colds because it gave the quickest, surest relief—with absolute safety. It is now featured by all leading druggists.

APPROVE CHANGE

O. S. C. Faculty Endorses Move To Place Students in Hall

COLUMBUS, Jan. 12.—For the first time in the history of Ohio State university, students who entered school in the fall and were pledged to a fraternity or sorority at that time, may be initiated in the spring quarter.

The faculty has approved a new rule permitting initiation of pledges who have a "C" average in grades and credit for 30 hours of academic work. Under the old law students were initiated only after completing 40 hours of work.

The new rule was first suggested during the fall quarter because it would give the organizations a larger active chapter for the fall "rush" season. It is also thought that the grade requirement will encourage pledges to maintain a higher scholastic standing.

FEDERAL JURY WILL PROBE DOPE RACKET

U. S. Attorney Plans To Present Startling Evidence in Smuggling Investigation

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—America's gigantic "dope racket" said to involve $100,000,000 annually, was scheduled to go under the attack of a federal grand jury here today.

United States Attorney Charles H. Tuttle announced this morning he planned to present startling evidence in an investigation of smuggling narcotics to the grand jury later in the day.

"This probe will be no respecter of persons," Tuttle said. Evidence will be sought from experts and everything possible will be done to push to the fullest extent the advantage gained in recent raids in New York and other cities of the country, Tuttle declared. Some of the raids, it was said, were made possible on information gathered by a clever woman operative in Chicago.

Linking of the name of Arnold Rothstein, murdered New York gambler, with the tangled web of the narcotic ring in this section of the city was made known today.

KELLOGG PACT PAID TRIBUTE BY BRITISH

Sends France Note Seeking To Allay Skepticism Over Disarmament

LONDON, Jan. 12.—The Londoners' committee attached by the British government to the Kellogg pact as a sort of watchdog of the peace of the world was today demonstrated only by the reply made by Great Britain to the recent French memorandum concerning the naval disarmament conference which begins here next week.

The British note, extremely cordial in tone, seeks to allay the skepticism of France over the wisdom of entering the Kellogg pact as a basis for disarmament negotiations.

The note goes to great pains to set forth how, in the opinion of this country, the Kellogg treaty supplies an excellent medium for negotiation and limitation of armament and thus by nature of the wide scope and number of its signatories, it automatically furnishes guarantees that should relieve France of any fears of belated aggression.

In many ways, the communication is one of the most imposing tributes yet paid to the new historic pact, for in it the British government emphatically repudiates the inference of France that Great Britain and the United States lacked sufficient faith in the treaty to make any substantial reductions in their naval armaments.

HOPE FOR SON

Duke and Duchess of York Expect Arrival Within Few Months

LONDON, Jan. 12.—A new article is expected in the family of the Duke and Duchess of York within a few months, it was learned from a reliable source today.

Should the child be a son, he will be England's future king, provided the Prince of Wales does not marry. As the prince is 36 and as far away from matrimony as ever, the news of the approaching event was received with great interest. Hope was naturally expressed that the child will be a boy, as it would assure perpetuation of the Windsor line.

So nice...so well dressed yet "B.O." ruined it all (Body Odor)

SMART clothes...a pretty face...a delightful smile. Yet she was shunned at parties—a failure at every dance. Then one day an old friend, pitying her loneliness, spoke of a very intimate personal matter—"B.O."—body odor. She was horrified at first. But today she's grateful. For that frank talk changed her whole life. She's one of the most popular girls in her set now—since she learned the easy way to end "B.O."

People can't forgive "B.O." And the worst of it is, we don't realize when we offend. For our sense of smell becomes used to a familiar odor. Yet even on cool days pores give off a quart of odor-causing waste. And others instantly notice the slightest hint of "B.O."

Why not play safe? Wash and bathe with Lifebuoy, the favorite toilet soap of millions of particular men and women. Its mild, creamy, delightfully refreshing antiseptic lather deep-cleanses and purifies pores—keeps you safe from "B.O."

Radiantly fresh complexions Lifebuoy and good complexions go together. Dull skins quickly freshen—glow with clear, healthy, radiant beauty under its gentle, yet thorough, cleansing. Its pleasant extra-clean scent—that vanishes as you rinse—tells you Lifebuoy purifies. Adopt Lifebuoy today.

On the Streets of Marion

WITH STAR STAFF

A new story of Soviet Russia of today—a story new and radically different from anything which has been told before—has just been written for The Star and other clients of International News Service by Frederic Hunt, noted newspaperman, war correspondent and magazine writer. The story begins on Page 1 of this issue.

Mr. Hunt, who is editorial representative for Europe and staff writer for the Washington Post, left for Russia just returned from a month's tour of that country. He has long had a deep personal interest in Russia, and on this tour he utilized his ability to penetrate into the life of the country, to observe conditions in Russia as he found them on this tour with conditions which existed two, four and 10 years ago.

Mr. Hunt has written about Russia before. He knows Russia, he is one of the very few among the great many who have written about Russia in the past 11 years who has been able to grasp the new psychology of the Soviet movement. In this series of articles he brings this psychology as close to the reader as the latter recognizes it for a real living, pulsating being.

Eleven years ago, when the newspapers and magazines of the United States, and most other countries of the world, were publishing the editorial that Russia was a "red" country.

MT GILEAD BOYS LOSE CAGE TILT

Shelby Team Takes Game with 36 to 18 Score; Girls Defeat Mansfield

MT. GILEAD, Jan. 12.—After playing Shelby on even terms during the first half the Mt. Gillead boys blew up and allowed Shelby to win 36 to 18 in the game played here Saturday night. The game at the end of the half was Shelby 16, Mt. Gillead 12. Shelby's Shelby ace, was held to two field goals in the first half but dropped five in the last two quarters. The game was fast and few fouls were called by Referee Steger. Richardson, Mt. Gillead right forward, was the only player to leave the game on personnel. Many substitutions were made by both coaches.

The Mt. Gillead girls succeeded in capturing another game, defeating the strong Westinghouse team, of Mansfield, 18 to 17. The winning point being a free throw scored by Richardson only one minute before the final whistle blew. Richardson scored all but two of the 18 points. The game was exceedingly rough throughout. Richardson alone of the Mt. Gillead players apparently being able to take care of herself in the rough and tumble conflict. The summaries:

City Departments Taken Over by Jones Appointees

Office in City Hall Proposed for New Safety Director Sonnas-tine as He and Harlow Begin Duties; Sonnas-tine Says He'll Make It Virtually a Full-Time Job

Two of the most important departments in the city government changed hands this morning when T. L. Sonnas-tine, director of public safety, and D. J. Harlow, director of public service, formally assumed their positions for a two-year term. With these two officials in office the administration of Mayor L. Don Jones was practically complete today. Virtually all other officials who will work with Jones in the first Democratic administration to head Marion's civic affairs in nearly seven years took office with him on Jan. 1.

THREE YOUTHS HELD FOR INVESTIGATION

Zanesville Trio Arrested Here Suspected of Store Burglary

Three youths, under 20 years of age, are being held by local authorities for investigation today following their arrest this afternoon on charges of stealing gasoline from a farm south of here. They are James Adams, Ray Beck and Fred Regan, all of Zanesville. They are being held here pending word from Zanesville officials, where it is believed they are wanted on charges of burglarizing a store.

Following the discovery of two guns, one in the car and the other in a pocket of one of the youths, candy, cakes and cigars in the machine, Regan told officials that they had broken into a store, police said. They were arrested by Deputy Sheriff Fred Williams and Louis Francis and Chief Thompson and Captain Shrock of the city police department south of Marion after the trio allegedly had stolen gasoline from a car on the Henry Reiff farm, four miles south of here on the Delaware rd. The youths, officials stated, stopped at the Reiff house and, when they did not receive any answer to their knock, used a hose to drain gasoline into a five-gallon can. After they left Mrs. Reiff took the license number of the trio's machine and called officials. When arrested the youths were prowling around a deserted house in the machine. The boys told officials that they were on their way to Toledo in search of work.

REAFFIRMS DEMANDS FOR ITALIAN PARITY

Government Wants Equality with France, Fascist Bulletin Asserts

Rome, Jan. 12.—In an official Fascist bulletin made public today, the Italian government reaffirmed Italy's demands for parity with France in naval armaments. In reiterating Italy's rights to obtain parity with France, the communique declared that Italy was absolutely unable to renounce the principle of parity recognized by her at all times since the Washington naval conference. The communique stressed the fact that Italy's delegates to the "four big powers" naval disarmament conference at London were prepared to enter the conference's discussions with parity with France as a fundamental condition to be fulfilled.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble, and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

KENTON VETERANS HOSTS AT RALLY

Commander Urges Defense, Not Offense, in Address Before Legionnaires

MAYOR GIVES TALK

State Head Asks Posts To Increase Membership to 50,000

KENTON, Jan. 12.—Addressing the Northwestern Ohio district rally and banquet of the American Legion here Saturday night, O. L. Bodenhamer, national commander, called upon veterans to encourage a successful London naval conference. He opposed American naval disarmament by example and demanded parity. More than 250 legionnaires attended the gathering from posts in cities and towns throughout northwestern and central Ohio.

Stating that the legion wants preparedness for defense, not offense, Commander Bodenhamer pointed out that the army and navy costs only 18 cents a year for each $100 protected. He also called upon congress to pass the Red-Whitworth resolution to ascertain the feasibility of a universal draft.

"It is my firm conviction," said Commander Bodenhamer, "that a law should be written and within which would draft every man, every industry, every natural resource and every manufacturing enterprise in the service of a common cause in case of another war. If you will do that you will take the prize out of war as nearly as can be taken out of international conflict. You will take the burden off the shoulders of the men who carry the rifle and distribute it equally as between the citizens whether in or out of uniform."

"When American capital is forced to give as freely of its dollars as American blood gives of its blood, and when such a principle is written into the law of the land and made available for use during the time of National emergencies, then, in my humble opinion, we will have a fundamentally well prepared nation and at the same time a sincere and peace-loving people."

Carl W. Smith, post commander of the Kenton post, presented the National commander who was guest of honor and principal speaker at the rally, one of the most successful of the series that have been held here the past several years. He also presented Attorney Louisa E. Brown, commander of Kenton post.

Dudley White, Norwalk, state commander, also spoke as an honored guest, urging the various posts throughout the state to rebuild their efforts in enrolling members in the legion that the state this year might increase its membership to 50,000.

Daily Proverb—"They who strive with fortune win or weary her at last."

The Wickersham commission has discovered that the law is not being properly enforced in this country. Aren't the revelations of these commissions simply astounding?

Whether the charges are true or false, it's a sad situation when one police inspector is charged with having conspired to cause the death of another as has been charged up in Detroit.

The city council of Centralia, Illinois, has ordered the chief of police to stop the running of street cars there until the street car company repairs the broken bonds on the street car rails which caused radio interference. What's a little matter like transportation alongside entertainment in the life we live today?

After his experience with Mrs. Gladys Moon Jones, last week, the senate lobby committee is likely to think twice before permitting another woman witness to appear before it. She certainly jarred the self-confidence of the trained investigators a bit.

The attorney for the accused in a liquor case out in Illinois sought the dismissal of the charge against his client because a comma had been omitted in the search warrant on which the home of the accused had been entered. The sustaining of such technicities as that is one of the causes responsible for the falling-down in the enforcement of the law.

France now leads the world with a $49 per capita share of gold in the Bank of France. One might think such a situation would stop France from making a poor mouth when the matter of the debts she owes is brought up, but the French are mighty sifted in that respect.

Albert Edward Wiggam, biologist and writer, told a New York City gathering that the soft, easy environment in which we live is the only process known to science which will organically weaken human beings, and that charity and philanthropy, as now carried on, are leading definitely to the deterioration of mankind. The worst phase of the thing is that Mr. Wiggam, in his stand, has the backing of history.

Warsaw reports that the famous Gutenberg Bible in the library of the Bernadine Father of Lubawa has been sold to an American for $125,000. It would be folly to suspect any hard-working spender of joy and sunshine in paragraphs of having been the purchaser. The diligence with which they study Holy Writ would preclude the use of a Bible so valuable as that.

It is hard to understand why the ultra dry element should be after the Wickersham commission for finding that prohibition is one of the causes which have rendered criminal law enforcement "entirely inadequate." That was generally known and recognized before the commission was named. In fact,
had it not been for prohibition the commission very probably never would have been named.

Radio People Have Awakened.

President Lee De Forest, newly-elected head of the Institute of Radio Engineers, told the representatives of that organization assembled in convention in New York City, last week, that immediate action to curb a tendency toward increased direct advertising by broadcast chains and individual stations was necessary to prevent the sapping of the life-blood and destroy the greatest usefulness of the radio as a means of contact with the public.

"I attribute a part of the present slackening in radio sales," President De Forest said,
"as actually due to this one cause. The radio public is, I believe, becoming nauseated by the quality of many of the present programs," and he went on to say that the institute should take active steps in Washington, if need be, to rid radio programs of "this killing avian."

The surprising phase of this matter is not that the radio people have come to this conclusion, but that they so long delayed the reaching of it. Had they been in as close touch with public feeling as they, as wise businessmen, should have been, they would have reached it long ago.

The average radio fan is not asking for programs, rendered by high-salaried stars. As a matter of fact, some of the most pleasurable programs are starless. But he is sick and tired of the, in many cases, almost endless advertising of this or that article as a part of a radio program. He expects the sponsor for a program to get some advertising out of it, but he doesn't fancy an advertising introduction and an advertising close and advertising sprinkled all the way through. And the less direct advertising offered, as Dr.
De Forest has stated, the better the "listener in" will be pleased.

To Produce Life Synthetically.

Dr. Paul H. Hoyt, physicist in charge of the sound laboratory of the United States bureau of standards, speaking before the science forum of the New York Electrical society, declared that science is moving toward a clear understanding of life and, thus,
that some day life may be produced synthetically in the laboratory.

"Life is physical and chemical in its nature and we will get at it some day," Dr. Hoyt said. "We will understand the processes that make life as we now understand the burning of coal. And some day he may learn to produce protoplasm, which is the basis of life. I don't think anything is impossible, considering what we have accomplished in the last 200 years. I feel science is approaching the solution of the mystery of life.
We have already learned to produce artificially many of the compounds functioning in the body. We have gone so far in the last 200 years, and especially in the last year, that I feel satisfied we may some day actually be able to reproduce life synthetically in the laboratory."

"There is nothing occult or supernatural in the processes of life and eventually we will unravel its secret. Protoplasm is nothing but a chemical compound. I see no reason why some day we shall not be able to produce it. When we do so it may be living or it may be dead—no one can say."

If we of this earth believe that we are mere matters of chance, manifestations of the results of evolution from protoplasm to what we are; that we could, serve our purpose in the great scheme of nature, and go, and that that is the end of us—the purely scientific view—then and in that event any searching which may lead to a prolongation of the span of life beyond man's allotted time can not be considered other than of the highest value and benefit.

But those who believe that we are here as the result of a Divine plan; that there is a future for us and that we may influence that future by the lives we lead here on earth, will get little thrill out of Dr. Hoyt's prediction possibility, for, the possibility becoming an actuality, what foundation would be left for the Christian faith, for any religious faith for that matter?

And there is another phase of the matter.
Assuming the scientists do succeed in producing life synthetically, where will it stop?
With protoplasm? Taking for granted that the scientific world hasn't so much as dreamed of producing life in a higher form, is there not danger in producing it at all?
Isn't there always danger that the protoplasm might be further developed to let loose some kind of a lower life menace upon the world?
Foolish assumption, do you say? Impossible?
No more so than this assumption of the scientists that they may produce life.

Identified by the young woman assistant cashier as the man who held up and robbed the Republic state bank near Tulsa, three residents of Seneca county are facing life terms in the penitentiary. Looked at from any angle, there is absolutely nothing in the way of profit and everything in the way of risk in a life of crime.

Rubber-Stamp Language.

It sounds incredible, but Professor Frederick Tupper, president of the Modern Language association, believes that the quality of writing—sheer technique, is on the upgrade throughout the ranks of American authorship. In a recent address he declared the inefficient writer is becoming as much of an anomaly as an inefficient engineer would be and that, in an age of specialization, the author is learning to handle his tools like any other skilled worker. He detects this improvement in all literary production, from the most trivial magazine love story to the most learned essay.

Professor Tupper is in a position to draw accurate conclusions on the subject, and every one who has struggled through some of the pseudo-literature of the past two decades hopes that he is correct. There is probably no activity in the world to which more unskilled people turn than writing, and it is traditional that most of the amateurs are resistant of criticism. Any trend toward closer adherence to the laws of grammar and the traditions of good writing is bound to have a good effect on the status of American literature.

The upward trend in writing, however, has had little if any effect upon speech. Slang, powerful as it may be when it is new, soon becomes stale and its wide usage has deduced the power of expression. In a manner of speaking, it is a habit which fastens itself upon one and starves his vocabulary. Those clever enough to create their own slang are in a marked minority, and the expressions which they originate from time to time are seized avidly by others too lazy to think for themselves. Speech atrophy is the result.

Some clever person floated the expression
"not so hot" a few years ago, and today it is used by millions who would be hard pressed to think of a synonymous phrase to express their boredom or disapproval. In time it will be supplanted by another and perhaps a more colorful creation, also of the rubber-stamp type. It is not pleasant to reflect on the mental activity of a nation which gets its speech as it gets its clothes—ready to wear.

There are good effects, too. The person who has the ambition and the ability to use original expressions stands out above his fellows. So prevalent indeed is the tendency to be "sloppy" in speech that observance of common niceties serves to attract favorable attention.

After a controversy which has endured for twenty years, the Rockefeller family has finally succeeded in getting the New York Central railroad to change its route whereby it will not cut through Pocomoke Hills, the $600-acre Rockefeller estate near Tarrytown,
New York, but it has cost the family $5-000,000 in addition to the price of the right-of-way to attain success. But then, we get nothing in this old world of ours without in some way paying for it.

Biot Out "Catching" Diseases.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
Nobody wants a contagious disease in the family.
And all the "catching" diseases are to be dreaded.
The danger of contagion can be lessened by preventive measures and intelligent care.

First, we must insist on cleanliness, and direct the children to their personal habits. There are preventive measures that will go far toward keeping a child from "taking" a disease when exposed to it.

Almost every contagious disease begins with a running nose. When a child wakes up in the morning with a sore throat, running nose, fever and headache, keep him home, and in bed.
In the early stage of contagious diseases you never know what particular contagion it may be.
Take no chances, but keep the child apart from others to protect them from the contagion.

A child should be taught to cover the mouth when coughing, or sneezing. This should be everybody's practice. The schoolroom is a place where the common cold is frequently met. On the doorknobs, pencils, erasers, and everything children touch, are the tiny little germs that set up so much trouble.

Teach your child to wash his hands frequently, to keep the face and mouth clean. The inside of the nostrils should be gently washed out every morning and night, for the moist nostrils easily catch the germs from the air or soiled hands. Teach your child to keep his hands away from his mouth and nose.

Scarlet fever and diphtheria have been in the past the most dreaded of all the contagious diseases. Thanks to modern science there have been found preventives for these terrible ailments.
Modern science, too, has given us methods of finding out the susceptibility of a child to these diseases. A test is made, and if the child is found to be likely to take the disease, then by an inoculation there is prospect of prevention. In this way, as well as by the intelligent teaching of the child in right habits of cleanliness and living, the dangers of these dread diseases are greatly reduced.

Only by the greatest precaution, and by intelligent education, can the public help in blotting out these diseases of infection and contagion. Protect your children and the children of your friends and neighbors so that they may have better health now and for the generation to come. Your doctor and science have put their best efforts into the prevention and cure of disease, but it is only with the cooperation of every man, woman and child that these dread diseases can be stamped out.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES.

H.I.S. Q.—What causes shooting pains in the legs and joints?
A.—This is probably due to rheumatism. The source of infection must first be removed before the trouble can be cleared up.

A.R.M. Q.—Is there any harm in third cousins marrying?
A.—No.

M.R.B. Q.—What do you advise for enlarged prostate?

A.—Try using hot and cold compresses alternately for fifteen minutes night and morning.

M.O.B. Q.—What do you advise for catarrh?
A.—I would suggest a good nose and throat spray. Other special treatment is advisable.

L.D. Q.—What causes hives?

A.—What do you advise for blackheads?

A.—This is usually due to some food which causes irritation.

2.—Correct your diet, by cutting down on sugar, starches and coffee. Eat simple food.

B.J. Q.—What is the cause of sharp pains in my stomach causing me to double up? I have had my appendix removed.

A.—You may be troubled with hyperacidity or stomach ulcers. It would be wise to consult your family doctor for an examination.—Copyright,

Editorial Opinion.

EPITHALAMUM ITALICUM.

When the prince and the princess are young and in love, when he is brave and handsome and she is beautiful, their wedding takes the world back to fairyland. It was in this spirit that the Italians, gathered in great numbers at Rome, witnessed the nuptials of Humbert, Prince of Pi-emonte, and Marie José, Princess Royal of Belgium. Their parents had been married together in the Great war. The ties of a common religion bound them. Children of kings, they are destined for royal place. Behind them are noble royal traditions. The line of Prince Humbert is that sturdy mountain dynasty of Savoy which finally attained sovereignty over "United Italy." The House of Cavour, from which the princess is descended, because the shield of the Belgian people when the German armies made their conquest into a military camp. All the hero tales and all the fairy stories that old wives used to tell to children in Europe's villages came to life again, and the great spectrum which is Italy flashed its many brilliant colors in the sunlight that shone upon the royal pair.

It was a sight upon which even the most impatient of democrats could gaze without remorse.
Neither of these young people belongs to a race of autocrats. Their fathers are constitutional monarchs. They are wanderers of their people, to whom the motherlands belong. The very title of Albert makes that doubly clear—not king of Belgium, but king of the Belgians. The man have proved their courage in battle and in public crises.
The women have proved their fortitude in hours of common suffering and have revealed their human pity by the bedside of the wounded. In their hands the scepter is but the symbol of the state. Hailed as the crown prince and the new crown princess are by the necessities of the state, their lives will be spent in ceremony which probably both would gladly see end with the wedding feast. But they are the prisoners of a legend from which, for the present at least, comes racial unity and national action, and in all their lives they may never be able to escape. Political philosophers will sympathize with them. But millions of girls and lads everywhere in the world will spin the fabric of dreams about them. Scouring the philosophers, as is the right of youth, they will wish that they too might be married by a cardinal under a red velvet canopy, guarded by tall carriers with fierce moustaches, while kings and queens and royal highnesses look on.—New York Times.

DIAMOND AND GRIDIRON.

Count Mack pleaded a lost cause at Princeton university when he bespoke the same support for baseball as the student body gives football. It simply isn't the books. As a professional sport, baseball is without a rival in sustained interest, punctuated with community hysteria. If racing is the sport of kings, baseball is the sport of democracy, wherein the bleacher feels a sense of proprietaryship which the grandstand can never know.
The hot polio sits on the throne.

Football, per contra, is class stuff. It is distinctly collegiate. It is exclusive. It possesses, too, a social aura, a smart set rather, which baseball, however purified, refined, and deportmentally polished, does not have. Effects to professionalize baseball are frequently resented in the mountain realm. From which it may be deduced that the common crowd that flock to college football are attracted thither neither by admiration for nor knowledge of the game. The gladiatorial quality of the struggle may appeal to the primitive, but the brimming bowls or saturated stadia may be largely explained because it is the thing to do.

As to the comparative merit of the two arts, let some rash adventurer, disdaining of the violent consequences, venture his opinion. But the always available visitor from Mars would, if a highbrow pronounce baseball as packed with drama, a specialty of antinatural skill, hatched incessantly with the two essentials of drama—suspense and climax. To him football would be a Thermopyle excited before Mr. and Mrs. Arctos and all the Misses Arctides in the world.

There let us leave them—both bally games.—St.
Louis Post-Dispatch.

Spallanzani.

BY ARTHUR H. HENDERSON.

The year 1776, it is generally known, was the centenary of the birth of the great Italian naturalist, Lazzaro Spallanzani. Born on January 14, 1776, he lived an extraordinary life, active and fruitful life of seventy years. After receiving excellent preliminary training in his native town, Spallanzani, Italy, he prosecuted advanced studies at the Jesuit college at Reggio di Modena in 1791.
Subsequently he developed strong scientific interests at the University of Bologna, where he was encouraged by his cousin, the famous woman scientist, Lazzara Spallanzani, and by Vallambri, professor of natural history at Padua.
In 1794, at the early age of twenty-three,
Spallanzani was appointed to a professorship at the college at Reggio. Six years later, he accepted the chair of physics, which probably included natural history, at Modena, and thereafter consistently devoted himself to scientific work. Because he took high orders, although never very active in the religious field, he is known in the history of science as the Abbe Spallanzani.

It was well said by Murray a few years ago that "Spallanzani established the modern standard" in science. This is well evidenced by the following quotation from the introduction to one of Spallanzani's scientific works:

"To lay down facts with the faithfulness of a true historian of nature, to give as much as possible, from the most simple to the most complicated, to bring them together, to analyze and compare them with themselves and with the discoveries of other authors; to deduce with impartiality the immediate consequences; to give favorable or coarse to the experiments given of these extraordinary phenomena; to show how far the limits of animal physiology are extended by, and what utility and advantage may be derived from observations of this kind will be the principal design of this work."

One of the great controversies of the time
revolved around the question of spontaneous generation. Needham, with experiments on mutton gravy, proved—as he thought—that life comes spontaneously from dead stuff.
He had taken the precautions, in his experiments, to plug up his bottles of gravy with corks, to keep out microscopic organisms in the air; and also to heat the bottles for a short time.

Spallanzani destroyed the results of Needham's experiments, which had profoundly impressed the Royal Society of England. He repeated the experiments under conditions of modern scientific accuracy—sealing about the corks with glass, and boiling the contents for an hour. The result was: no organisms were found in the substance contained in the bottles. In his "Science and Scientists in the Nineteenth Century," Murray justly claims that "Spallanzani had anticipated one of the most renowned of the experiments of Pasteur with results that would have satisfied the French investigator."—Copyright, 1930, International Feature Service, Inc.

Dinner Stories.

"Do you aspire to become a dictator?"
"No," answered Senator Sorghum. "There is an oversupply of persons willing to dictate. The need is for experts who can take dictation intelligently."

"And did he live to tell the tale?" asked a listener after the story of the traveler's amazing adventure had been told.
"Oh, yes," replied the story-teller. "In fact, he's done nothing else since."

Teacher—"Johnny, take this sentence: 'I led the cow from the pasture.' What mean?" Johnny—"The cow, ma'am."

"When is the next train out of this burg?"
"Twelve o'clock, sir."
"What? Isn't there one before that?"
"No, sir, we never run one before the next."

"Yes, it is really remarkable," observed mother at the head of the table. "Clifford seems to eat twice as much chicken when we have visitors."
"Indeed!" exclaimed the lady visitor.
"And pray, why is that, Clifford?"
"Cause that's the only time we have it."

"Did you lose any money in the stock exchange?"
"Yes," answered Mr. Dustin Stax.
"Millions."
"I'm not talking about paper losses. What worries me is the twenty-five-cent piece I dropped on the floor and searched for in vain for fifteen minutes."

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. MINTYRE.

New York, Jan. 12.—Daisy of a week Pepper. Early bedtime and playing with a dog snapped out one of his teeth with a blow and suffered to tell the wife. And sometimes who writes fearfully of this and condemn the year 1930 will be a great prosperity.

Out to the Lebus-Reynolds restaurant in came upon Chamberlain Dobbs whom I saw at a table in front of the Cafe de la eight years ago. And who told me coming was a mild, harmless cordial, but after going three had to go home in a red-wheel chair.

After dusk did on my civet cat great and walked for him the park, thinking this, that and the other. Then home to the content and found a merry gathering in Courtney Ryley Copper told hilarious of his days as Buffalo Bill's press agent.

A young artist whose dream of becoming great portrait painter ended as many days
do, took a temporary job designing show for a movie house. "I was trying to get enough courage to commit suicide," he said. He is now averaging $300 a week. And quite a lead about town with butter and all.

A New York hospital recently received patient of no little prominence suffering from an odd stomach complaint that baffled distinction. He finally confessed that for years he had an almost uncontrollable taste for writing-ink. Several times a day, and even absent-mindedly, he would touch his finger to an inkwell and transfer it to the tip of his tongue. It developed a serious poisoning.

Real estate values in a certain residential block in uptown New York have been completely destroyed by a plague of mice. A six months' incessant warfare has taken its toll. One four-story building was completely undermined and had to be condemned.

Speaking of strange appetites as we were paraphrasing of so ago, a soda jerk at a drug store near the Grand Central tells of a customer whose breakfast every morning is dish of chocolate ice-cream.

their identity. For example: H. Thaw is represented by a fellow with a whip.

Ohio's Resources Used to Revive Coal Industry

First Phase of Experiments at State University Expected To Require at Least Year for Any Worthwhile Results

PROF. H. E. FAUST

COLUMBUS, Jan. 15.—Resources of the engineering experiment station, Ohio State university, are being utilized in the state's program of reviving Ohio's coal industry.

H. E. Faust, a graduate of the university, has just joined the station staff to begin a study of the efficiency of various Ohio coals for industrial purposes. H. E. Faust, professor of mine engineering and chairman of the station's coal research committee, estimates that the entire study will require from three to five years to complete.

Faust is beginning his tests of the efficiency of various Ohio coals under different rates of combustion, using a 600-horsepower boiler in the university power plant. Among other things his tests are expected to show what is the best amount of grate area to get maximum efficiency from Ohio coals.

First phase of the experiments is expected to require at least a year for any worth while results. Another year will be needed to run tests with all of the coals desired, which will include all of the state's major producing coals. Thousands of tons of coal will be used, in all, in the experiments.

Does Marion Want Its Stock Company Any Longer?

To Those determining the course of the Stock Company at the Grand, the question of whether Marion wants the MYRTLE ROSS PLAYERS any longer has become potent and difficult.

Apparently there is an apathy of interest. The question arises: Is this lack of interest due to some external force or is it an expression of indifference to this form of entertainment? If it is the latter then the Players' withdrawal from Marion is obviously the wisest course.

To definitely answer this question the Players are this week offering that internationally famous comedy—

"THE GORILLA"

As Marion expresses itself on this universally popular and thrilling play, so the issue of the Myrtle Ross Players will be decided.

Ask yourself: Do you want the legitimate theater represented in Marion? Do you want the Myrtle Ross Players to continue here?

An attractive home wedding of the new year was celebrated Saturday night at 8:30 o'clock when Miss Lorraine Porter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Talma N. Porter, 155 Johnson st., became the bride of William L. Brown, of Logan.

The single ring ceremony was read at the home of the bride's parents by the Rev. A. H. Achtermann, pastor of the Zion Reformed church, of Prospect, before an improvised altar of palms and ferns.

Miss Porter was charming in a brown crepe silhouette gown fashioned with an unseen neckline. She carried an arm bouquet of yellow Tadmor roses and sweetpeas tied with yellow tulle.

The bride was attended by Miss Geraldine Watring, of Lorain, who wore for the wedding a black chiffon velvet gown fashioned with a long unsewn neckline.

Mr. Brown was attended by Murray McAdams, of Granville, as best man. Following the ceremony, Miss Janet Trotter, a classmate of the bride, sang "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Porter, the bride's mother.

Following the wedding ceremony, a buffet luncheon was served to the bridal party.

Mrs. Brown is well-known here, having attended the elementary school, and is a graduate of Zanesville high school in the class of '26. Mr. Brown is a member of the Beta Phi Sigma fraternity and is a graduate of Logan high school in the class of '25.

THE FOLLY OF FAT

PROVED FOR 22 YEARS—AND TO MANY

CONSIDER the fact that countless people, for many years, have been fighting fat in the modern way. No abnormal exercise or diet to bring harm.

Note the results you see everywhere. Slender figures now prevail. Excess fat is the exception. New youth and beauty, new health and vigor, have come to multitudes in the easy, pleasant, right way.

One great reason is a discovery that science made some years ago. It was found that most fat people had an underactive gland. That gland largely controls nutrition, and its weakness leads to fat.

Modern physicians, since that discovery, have applied a new treatment to obesity. They have fed the lacking substance.

Marmola prescription tablets, prepared by a famous laboratory, contain the factors they employ. So this effective and right method is at everyone's command.

Marmola has been used for 22 years—millions of boxes of it. Users have told others the results until Marmola now stands alone. A book in each box gives the formula and explains the reasons for results. So users know what they are taking and why the good effects appear.

Is it not folly to stay fat when so many have found an easy way to slender, normal figures? And the right way. Go try the method they employed. Watch the results from a box or two of Marmola, then decide for yourself what it means. A right condition means much to you. Go start today.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 a box. Any druggist who is out will gladly order for you.

There is no place in a child's diet for cheap food... certainly no place for cheap bread. Use Hobson, Sliced or Un-sliced.
